

Figure 1 – OrtAn workflow. Protein sequence from samples supplied by the user are clustered using OrthoFinder (a). OrtScraper takes a text file containing a list of identifiers for each reaction in the pathway of interest supplied by the user to retrieve all protein sequences from KEGG (b). Sequences mapped to reactions are stored in ORAdb (c). Functional annotation